

New University Catalogs – Feature List

On December 19th, 2016, the University replaced the University Bulletins with what we will be referring to as University Catalogs. The new University Catalogs include a number of features to assist you with navigation and usage. Below is a list of some of these features.

Advanced Search - this feature allows users to identify catalog content specific to a course, program, or school. Course search options include subject, catalog number, department, or keyword.

My Portfolio - allows you to record and track your favorite programs, courses, and other areas of the catalog that interest you for future reference within that browsing session.

Archived Catalogs - catalogs from previous years are easily accessible via link on the catalog menu that is available on every catalog page.

Academic Calendar - one-click and users will have the calendar for the academic year.

Class Search - directs users to the Pitt PS Mobile, Class Search page which provides access to classes offered for the current term(s).

Undergraduate/Graduate and Professional Studies Catalog Dropdown - unique to only the Pittsburgh Campus Catalog, users can seamlessly toggle between either catalog by clicking the drop-down at the top of either Pittsburgh Campus Catalog.

Mobile-Friendly Version - each catalog has a mobile version that will appear automatically when accessing a catalog from a tablet or mobile device. directs users whenever they are using a tablet or mobile device (full-site button included in mobile version; allowing for easy swapping between catalog versions - no app download required).
